Location: Harpeth Hills Church of Christ

The end of life raises various questions and dilemmas for each of us. Parthenon Pavilion at Centennial, The Center for Healthy Living at Centennial Medical Center and The Resource Center on Aging at Harpeth Hills have partnered together again to bring you a new, Wellness 66, program which focuses on End of Life issues. We will begin by exploring who we are going to be when facing the end of life. We will address caring for ourselves in today's climate of self-sufficiency. Tools will be given to help us develop a community of support as our understanding increases regarding the importance of having a support network. We will discuss the issue of comfort related to the end of life, and we will address the importance of finding meaning during this life stage. We hope you can travel along with us on this journey, Wellness 66: End of Life Issues.

Lunch will be provided with this workshop. Five contact hours will be given and we are in the process of applying for NAB approved hours.

For additional information or to register for this informative workshop, please call MedLine at 615/342-1919 or 800-242-5662.
